

I AM ALREADY ENOUGH

I was searching

I was looking

For meaning

I was wandering

Desperately trying

Only to see

I have nothing missing

Who said, who said

I have to find who I am

Who said, who said

That I am lost to begin with

I am already enough

Everything I need is within me

Each morning when I wake up

I'm grateful for the beauty around me

Life is a gift, I wanna enjoy it

Always proving my worth only destroys it

I am already enough

Everything I need is within me

My motivation can't be validation

I'd always be starving

For more affection

The wrong attention

Only to feel like I am nothing

Who said, who said

I have to find who I am

Who said, who said

That I am lost to begin with

I am already enough

Everything I need is within me

Each morning when I wake up

I'm grateful for the beauty around me

Life is a gift, I wanna enjoy it

Always proving my worth only destroys it
I am already enough
Everything I need is within me
I have nothing to find and everything to feel
Only I can define what is meaningful to me
Even when I am feeling so breakable
I tell myself to believe I am valuable
I am already enough
Everything I need is within me
Each morning when I wake up
I'm grateful for the beauty around me
Life is a gift, I wanna enjoy it
Always proving my worth only destroys it
I am already enough
Everything I need is within me
I am already enough
Everything I need is within me
Each morning when I wake up
I'm grateful for the beauty around me
Life is a gift, I wanna enjoy it
Always proving my worth only destroys it
I am already enough
Everything I need is within me
