

The course was a real surprise. When I ~~was~~ signed up, I didn't have many expectations, a course similar to others I already attended, I thought, a course that ~~+~~ would allow me to improve my knowledge of the English language. This and more in reality.

Teacher Beltramini, that I did not know, is pure energy. ~~She that~~ translates teaching into numerous and varied educational activities, involving and training learners not only from a linguistic point of view. Of course, during the first lesson, ~~this~~ her vitality was ~~for me~~ a wave that overwhelmed me. I gasped and I doubted I could manage ~~do~~ it. But the lessons continued and I understood the training method and objectives.

I took off my clothes of English student and I decided to opened myself to everything ~~that I could learn with the English language~~. ~~And, then~~ In addition, didactic ideas and reflections ~~of on~~ the use of the language in an English / Italian comparison, turned out to be really very interesting.

I studied the English language a long time ago, only for 2 years, ~~and then~~ Later on I continued as a ~~self-educated~~ self-taught student. I only took some courses, often boring ones and to tell the truth not very stimulating.

Today, at the end of the course with teacher Beltramini, I feel satisfied: I have learned a lot especially what nobody taught me: the structure and thought ~~that subtend~~ underlying the English language. However, I haven't been a diligent student. I could have worked harder, studied more consistently but I could not force an already particularly accelerated pace of life / work.

In spite of that, it is all there, ~~however~~, ready to be gotten away and deepened more calmly.

The wish is to attend a new course with teacher Beltramini that I thank for her giving generous.
