

Portfolio » Teacher Training » At University » Module PPP

Experiences

In the page contained courstist may find a few examples of perspective research reports presentations that were discussed in the class context.

They provided last year's courstists with the opportunity to work and discuss different aspects of research report writing together and contributed to enhance the level of awareness about report writing.

They are by no means meant as models to be followed but just as materials to favour reflection and negotiated and shared discussion.

