

Esercizio no 4 pag 24 (focus now)

The table show us the family types in the UK. There is a 6.4% rise in the number of families, there is 9.5% increase in single in single-parent families, the number of cohabiting couple families is high, young people live at home with their parents and married couples and families are mainly in the centre of the country and around the outskirts of major cities.

Esercizio no 3 pag 24

- 1) The nuclear family is very common in the UK.
- 5) The high rate of divorce and remarriage is the main reason for the development of extended families.

Esercizio no 8 pag 24

In my country, families have one or two children. Few families, instead, have three or more children.