Images Speaking to Senses

This page will let you share my favourite images: they were chosen simply on the basis of their appeal to my senses. It is rather easy to appeal to my senses, provided you're delicate, intriguing, passionate, controlled and a mental accomplice.

Images are like music they speak and leave to you the mystery of imagination.

It is nice to share virtual spaces and interconnections: it makes you feel a more related part of the world. You get in touch, you write and read and play and of course create new spaces for interaction.
